ANNUAL REPORT

GREETINGS FROM THE URBANDALE FOOD PANTRY!

1,935,650 pounds of food.

That's how much nourishment moved through the doors of the Urbandale Food Pantry in 2025. It's a number that makes you pause. Not just because of its size, but because of what it represents: real families, real meals, and a community navigating continued uncertainty together.

2025 was a year unlike any other.

We opened the doors to our new facility, a long imagined vision made real, and expanded what it means to be a food pantry. What once was a goal on paper is now a living, breathing hub where dignity and compassion lead the way. We participated in programs like Healthy Kids Iowa and soft launched our Community Hub with partners like Project Iowa and Broadlawns WIC, making the pantry a place of connection, stability, and support.

And while we celebrated milestones, we also faced challenges head on. A government shutdown and delays in food benefits created uncertainty for many of our neighbors. Once again, the community met the moment. We adjusted. We adapted. We stayed open. Because hunger doesn't pause, and neither do we.

At the heart of everything we accomplished this year are people.

Our volunteers gave more than 20,000 hours of their time, showing up day after day with compassion, energy, and a belief that this work matters. Staff leaned in behind the scenes, and our supporters, donors, partners, and advocates, continued to say yes, again and again, to meeting need with action.

This report tells a story of growth and what's possible when a community comes together. We are proud of what we accomplished in 2025 and deeply aware that this work is far from finished.

Thank you for trusting us. Thank you for believing in this mission. And thank you for helping build something that will serve our community not just for today, but for years to come.

Gratefully,

-Patty Sneddon-Kisting | CEO

A Message from the Board President.

What is dignity? What is compassion?

When life throws unexpected challenges—a job loss, a medical bill, a sudden rent increase—people come to the Pantry. We measure pounds of food distributed and visits to the pantry, and we should. But the deeper story lies in the courage it takes to ask for help, and the journey that begins once someone walks through our doors.

As Board President, my priorities are clear: maintaining our mission, strengthening the organization, and ensuring our growth never compromises our commitment to addressing food insecurity. That commitment is rooted in dignity and compassion—values that guide every decision we make. When I joined the Board five years ago, I immediately recognized the need for a more welcoming, dignified space—one that reflects the humanity of those we serve. That vision is no longer abstract. Now the work is activation: turning our new space into innovative outcomes.

We're beginning to explore programs and services that address the broader needs of those who come to us. Our aim is to make help easier to access, more dignified to receive, and better connected to the resources that foster long-term stability. This journey will take time and trusted partnerships, and we're excited to walk it together.

The Pantry's future is more than a building or a single year's work. We are creating something the entire metro area can rely on—now and for generations to come. If you want to be part of that future, join us in one concrete way: bring your organization alongside this mission, volunteer as a leader, or introduce us to a partner who believes in building solutions that last.

In every decision we make, we return to two guiding principles: dignity and compassion. They are the heart of our mission and the soul of our future. As we expand our reach and deepen our impact, we do so with hope—and with the unwavering belief that together, we can create a community where no one faces hardship alone.

With gratitude,
Derek Zarn
